Jed Ferdinand

Jed is a Partner with Grimes & Battersby, LLP, located in Fairfield County, Connecticut and New York City. His practice includes all facets of intellectual property, licensing and entertainment law.

An accomplished trial attorney, he represents licensors, licensees, agents and inventors in all facets of intellectual property litigation. He also handles a wide variety of transactional matters and regularly negotiates licenses, merchandising agreements and entertainment deals. He also manages the trademark filing programs for a number of famous brands worldwide.

Jed is a member of the Board of three publications devoted to IP, The Licensing Journal, IP Litigator and Inventors Digest for Kids, and he writes the "Trademark Litigation" monthly column for the IP Litigator.

He was recognized by Trademark Insider as one of the top trademark attorneys nationally in 2004.