Mr. HEFLIN. Mr. President, this amendment makes technical changes to the bill and provides conciseness and clarity to the language of the bill.

There are also substantive changes made by the bill based on suggestions received from witnesses testifying before the Senate and House Judiciary Committees.

First, the amendment limits the place of incorporation of the Institute to "any State" and deletes the provision allowing the Institute to be incorporated in the District of Columbia.

Second, the amendment deletes the provision in S. 384 requiring the Institute to "make recommendations concerning the proper allocation of responsibility between the State and Federal court systems."

Third, the amendment provides a mechanism for filling vacancies of positions of the Board of Directors of the Institute.

The fourth substantive change requires the President to make initial apointments of members of the Board of Directors within 90 days after the date of enactment of this act. S. 384 provided a 60-day time period.

There is also a provision requiring the Conference of Chief Justices to submit their list of qualified candidates for members of the Board in a timely manner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 3327) was agreed to.

Mr. HEFLIN. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate bill 384 which would establish a State Justice Institute—a private nonprofit corporation to aid State and local governments in strengthening and improving their judicial systems.

The framers of our Constitution realized the important position that State courts would assume in the evolution of our judicial process. In fact, the only Federal court mandated by the Constitution is the Supreme Court of the United States. Therefore, it is evident that our forefathers placed substantial confidence in the abilities of our State judicial systems. The foresight of these men proved prophetic.

Today, State courts handle over 96 percent of all the cases tried in the United States. They are charged, along with the Federal courts, with the awesome responsibility of protecting and enforcing the rights granted by the Constitution and the laws of this land.

There is little doubt that a compelling Federal interest exists in ensuring that our State courts have the necessary resources available to meet the demands of their increasing dockets.

State courts not only consider State issues, but they are bound by the supremacy clause of the Constitution to consider Federal law as well.

In addition, the Federal Government is dependent upon State courts for the implementation and enforcement of Federal legislation on a statewide basis. Such legislation includes: The 55-mile per hour speed limit, aid to dependent children, and school lunch programs.

There is also an increasing number of Federal criminal cases being diverted to State courts because of the Speedy Trial Act.

It is inequitable to allow the Federal Government to continually burden State courts with Federal issues without providing corresponding financial assistance to meet these additional responsibilities.

But there is an even more compelling reason for passage of this legislation. Under our federal system of government, the judiciary of this country is bifurcated into both State and Federal systems. However, it is in the State courts that many private citizens are first touched by the hands of justice. If our State courts lack the capacity to deal competently and fairly with litigants, witnesses, and spectators, there is a danger that the public's perception of justice will be irrevocably tainted.

This point was eloquently stated by the Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, Warren E. Burger:

Should our people ever lose confidence in their State courts, not only will our Federal courts become more and more overburdened, but a pervasive lack of confidence in all courts will develop. All courts, Federal and State, rely upon public trust and public confidence. Their integrity is the key to their validity.

This legislation authorizes the creation of a State Justice Institute to administer a national program for the improvement of State court systems. In keeping with the doctrines of federalism and separation of powers, the Institute would be an independent, federally chartered corporation—accountable to Congress for its general authority, but under the direction of State judicial officials as to specific programs, priorities and operating policies.

The functions of courts on both the Federal and State levels have changed dramatically over the past few decades. A judge can no longer simply dispense justice and consider his responsibility fulfilled. Today, our judges are faced with enormous administrative responsibilities and it is imperative that our judicial officers balance both their judicial and administrative duties.

Our State courts cannot accomplish this alone. To maintian qualified judges and other court personnel it will be necessary to provide: First, educational and training programs; second, budgeting, planning, and accounting and; third, effective procedures for managing and monitoring caseloads.

It would be the function of the State Justice Institute to carry out these programs and to serve as a coordinating agency which assimilates information and then develops programs which will benefit numerous, if not all, State judical programs.

The Senate has passed similar legislation establishing a State Justice Institute during the past two Congresses and it has done so by a unanimous vote. This legislation has also been unanimously endorsed by the Conference of Chief Justices, which is composed of the highest judicial officers of the 55 States and territories and the District of Columbia.

It is apparent that the quality of justice in this country is largely determined by the quality of justice dispensed by state courts. While Federal assistance to State courts should never replace the basic financial support provided by state legislatures, Federal financial contribution administered in a manner that respects the independent nature of the judiciary can provide a "margin of excellence" that will not only improve the quality of justice, but will guarantee that the justice administered is of the highest caliber and that our courts provide the greatest accessibility for the citizens of this great land.

I thank the distinguished chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Senator STROM THURMOND, and Senator BOB DOLE, chairman of the Subcommittee on Courts, for their assistance and support in our efforts to see this legislation become a reality.

I firmly believe that this legislation will be an important initial step in our overall attempts to improve our judicial system on all levels of government and I urge my colleagues to support this long-awaited and much-needed legislation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there further amendments? If there be no further amendments to be proposed, the question is on the engrossment of the amendments and third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, was read the third time, and passed as follows:

S. 384
