HEDY LAMARR INVENTOR

Actress Devises 'Red-Hot' Apparatus for Use in Defense

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 30—Hedy Lamarr, screen actress, was revealed today in a new role, that of an inventor. So vital is her discovery to national defense that government officials will not allow publication of its details.

Colonel L. B. Lent, chief engineer of the National Inventors Council, classed Miss Lamarr's invention as in the "red hot" category. The only inkling of what it might be was the announcement that it was related to remote control of apparatus employed in warfare.
